Our Garden Above The Clouds

Welcome to Jardin des Monts..

When we first fell under the spell of this rundown farm in 2009, the gardens were all but abandoned and overtaken by nature. Our goal has always been to maintain their natural beauty and purity whilst taming them a little.

The remote location of the gardens did not hold us back, knowing that anything of value requires effort. Mother Nature made this the perfect place for growing some of the finest aromatic herbs and medicinal plants. So, as a team, we rebuilt the old farmhouse and cleared the paths.

Today, we continue to walk the gardens, nurturing and growing the perfect, all-natural ingredients we use in our ranges.

Hand-Crafted Perfection

We make finest quality products by hand.

Cultivating and harvesting our plants by hand allows us to know exactly when they are ripe and ready. Hand-picking ingredients ensures only the right part of the flower, or leaf, is selected and gently plucking, so only their natural goodness goes into our recipes – with no stems or unwanted foliage to dilute or contaminate.

Handcrafting is also translated into the making of our products, immersing our ingredients in oils or alcohol, turning them each day to gently extract their goodness before being blended into our creams and lotions.

We maintain traditions inspired by herbalism to create products of exquisite quality that are...simply better.

Natural Like Me

We are uncompromising when it comes to ensuring that our products are natural and organically certified, giving you complete confidence in our quality. All the herbal and medicinal plants used in our product ranges are grown in our gardens, so we personally know their source and history – traceability is a mere walk along the terraces and paths surrounding our flowerbeds.

We do need support with ingredients that can't be produced in our garden, like the oils and alcohol used to extract the goodness from our flowers. In these situations, we source ingredients from accredited organic farms to ensure that we achieve the exacting standards of organic and NaTrue® certification and product assurance.

Whether it is a rejuvenating skin cream or soothing lip balm, we guarantee it is as nature intended, and as natural as you.

Our Edelweiss and Masterwort ranges are NaTrue accredited, whilst all our products are organically certified

Time To Care

We take our time so you can live life to the fullest, confident that you have the finest, all-natural ingredients for your wellness.

Our time is shaped by the seasons. In the Spring, we climb the rocky steps to peel away the layers of straw that protect our plants and prepare the soil to sow and plant our gardens.

In the Summer we harvest the plants, selecting and picking them individually like fruit, only when ripe and ready. To capture all of nature's goodness, we waste no time drying the flowers and leaves to use them in the preparation for our ranges.

In the Autumn we prepare our product ranges. Stems and unwanted leaves are discarded so that only the best parts of the flower are selected, then sieved and blended into our lotions and balms

When the mountains are blanketed in snow, we cover our flowerbeds with straw and begin redesigning the garden for the following season, rotating the crops.

And then the Spring comes around once more..

Easily absorbed, it leaves the skin moisturised and rejuvenated, protecting against the toughest conditions while preventing irritation and ensuring a supple, firm complexion.

Rare and protected, Edelweiss grows abundantly in our gardens. This resilient flower loves the pure mountain air and harsh natural surroundings. Its hardiness is at the source of the unique properties that enhance the effectiveness of our skincare range.

SELECTION

Picking flowers is an art. We usually begin in June, but always late in the day, as the sun dips and the air grows cool. The tiny yellow stamen must be in full bloom to release all their goodness. We soak them in oils or alcohol for weeks, manually turning them every day to slowly extract all the benefits of their antioxidants.

Protect & Care

Masterwort grows wild around our gardens as a simple testament to the perfect conditions on the mountain. This traditional, medicinal alpine-plant has been prized for its healing qualities by generations of local farmers. We continue to pick the wildflowers from the ravines around the chalet, but we have also planted and cultivated them on our terraces for years. Our hand-care range is based on this elegant plant's rejuvenating energy, which quickly repairs and protects dry skin, leaving a velvety smooth finish.

SELECTION

Boasting the ideal level of nutrients, these beautiful plants reach maturity two to three years after planting. In Autumn, when the early rains soften the soil and their leaves begin to fall, all the benefits concentrate in the roots, and so we can begin our harvest.

HAND CREAM

A light and smooth hand cream for daily use that ensures even the most dry, damaged skin is repaired and becomes supple to the touch. It is the prized healing qualities of this traditional alpine root that rejuvenates the skin's cells and creates a silky soft touch.

Absorbed quickly, it can be applied as often as needed.

Also perfect for rough skin areas like elbows, knees and feet.

Calendula

Delicate & Soothing

Calendula is the vibrant siren that steals the attention of all who pass through our gardens. Yet we do not grow it for its happy bright-orange colours, but for her delicate, pampering qualities, perfectly suited for all skin types. We designed our range of soaps and soothing balms to provide skincare, face and body, with cleansing benefits for sensitive skins of all ages.

SELECTION

Calendula blooms throughout the summer. We know that the time is exactly right for harvesting when we hear excited bees buzzing around Calendula flowerbeds. The flowers close at night to replenish their energy, but around mid-morning, just as the heat of the day rises, they awaken and unfurl. This is our cue to begin carefully hand-picking, one at a time, with the bees happily flitting between the flowerheads.
